

BRAND IDENTITY GUIDELINES

The Brand Book

Everything that makes our tail wag — logos, colors,
type & tone for the sweetest bakery in town.

Meet Sulley

Sulley's Sweets is a dog barkery — a bakery built entirely for the four-legged. Every pup-cake, cookie, cake and scoop of gelato is baked fresh, made with dog-safe ingredients, and decorated like it's somebody's birthday. Because to us, it always is.

Our namesake and head taste-tester is Sulley, a cream goldendoodle with an unshakeable sweet tooth and a chef's hat that never comes off. He's the heart of the brand: joyful, a little goofy, and endlessly devoted to the good stuff.

This book keeps every wag-worthy detail consistent — so wherever the brand shows up, it always feels like a treat.

The Logo

Our logo is custom lettering paired with Sulley in his chef's hat. The full lockup is the hero — use it whenever space and clarity allow.

Primary lockup

Mascot + wordmark + "Dog Barkery" script. The signature form of the brand. Reverse (white) version sits on Sky Blue or photography.

Clear space

Keep clear space of at least X — the height of Sulley's chef hat — on every side. Nothing crowds the logo.

Minimum size

Print ≥ 32mm wide

Mark ≥ 32px

Below these sizes, switch to the mascot mark so details stay legible.

Logo Don'ts

The logo works hard for us — protect it. Avoid these six common mistakes.

Don't stretch or squish.

Don't tilt or rotate.

Don't recolor the logo.

Don't place on busy color.

Don't add shadows or effects.

Don't lower the opacity.

Color Palette

Four candy-bright hues, balanced with warm cream and ink. Sky Blue leads; Lime is for action; Pink is for love; Cream calms it all down.

Usage balance

Lead with blue & cream; let lime and pink stay the accents that pop.

Typography

TYPE IN USE

Treats worth wagging for

Fresh-baked, dog-safe, made with love

Every pup-cake starts before sunrise. We whisk, we pipe, we sprinkle — then Sulley gives the final taste-test. Headlines set in Quicksand Bold; body copy in Nunito Sans Regular at a comfy 15–17px with generous line-height.

Voice & Tone

We sound like the friend who throws their dog a birthday party — warm, playful, and a little pun-happy. Never stuffy.

✓ We say

- "Pawsitively the best day ever."
- "Baked fresh, tail-tested."
- "Treat your best friend like one."
- "Order up — Sulley approves. 🐾"

✗ We don't

- "Premium artisanal canine confections."
- "Purchase our products today."
- Over-promise health claims.
- Sound corporate, cold or clinical.

Photography

Two photo worlds: happy pups and the goods. Both are bright, clean and joyful — natural light, soft backgrounds, real moments.

Happy Pups

Dogs being celebrated — party hats, soft light, candid joy. Backgrounds stay light and uncluttered so the pup is the star.

The Goods

Product shots on bright, saturated color pops or clean surfaces. Crisp focus, generous frosting, always appetizing.

Do

- Shoot in bright, natural light
- Keep backgrounds simple & soft
- Show real dogs enjoying real treats
- Use brand-color backdrops for product

Don't

- Use dark, moody or cluttered scenes
- Over-filter or use heavy vignettes
- Show stressed or unhappy dogs
- Mix in off-brand color casts

Applications

The system in action — from the ordering app to packaging and social.

Mobile ordering app — Sky Blue headers, Lime CTAs, Pink favorites, paw-print details.

Made with love & treats

Keep it consistent, keep it joyful, and when in doubt
— ask what would make Sulley's tail wag.
